

Project Workshops is a vibrant centre for the visual arts in Quarley near Andover, Hampshire. It is home to over a dozen artists who create a unique range of sculpture, furniture, ceramics, pottery, glass vessels and paintings.

Christmas Shopping Weekend 2014

13th and 14th December 10am until 4pm

Once again Project Workshops' talented artists will welcome you into their studios where you can see the marvellous work they create, and take time out to chat with them. This is a wonderful chance to buy those unique gifts for friends and family.

View of Project Workshops

Glassblowing demonstrations will be given throughout the day by our resident glassmakers Mark Taylor and David Hill. The Talos Art Foundry will also be open, displaying examples of how bronze sculptures are made, and showing recent projects, including a new monumental work by Giles Penny.

Marek Wo nica will be showing his new cast pewter and turned wood Chessboard and Tim Chadsey will have his beautifully crafted furniture on display. Come early to see the full range of Elaine Peto's amazing ceramic animals.

'Christmas Shopping' by Soraya French

There will be a vast range of bespoke, original artwork on show and plenty of shopping opportunities too – many of the artists offer lessons and demonstrations for groups and a voucher for a day or weekend course can make an original Christmas gift idea for the friend who has everything!

Entry for our Christmas Shopping weekend is free, and there is ample free parking and disabled toilet facilities. Large parties and children under supervision are very welcome. Put the date in your diary now for this popular Open Studios Weekend.

Robyn Golden-Hann - Letter Cutter

Harrow Plaque by Robyn Golden-Hann

Robyn has enjoyed another busy year: commissions for memorials, plaques, and some exhibiting too. Around November she will be installing a carved stone clock-face that she has created for Horatio's Garden at the Spinal Injuries Unit of Salisbury District Hospital.

Her highlight of 2014 was seeing a small plaque she carved for St Andrew's church, Bemerton (Salisbury) being blessed by Dr Rowan Williams, former Archbishop of Canterbury, as part of this year's hugely successful George Herbert festival (the 17th century priest/poet of Bemerton).

Elaine Peto - Ceramicist

Elaine Peto's Studio

Elaine's work is always popular, and she is still getting commissions for her lurchers and greyhounds which were photographed for an edition of Country Living first issued several years ago now.

She is currently working on a commission of a Siamese Cat which, surprisingly, will be the first domestic cat she has ever done. Her work can also be seen at 'Art in Clay' in Farnham again this year, on the 15th and 16th November 2014.

Marek Wo nica - Metalworker

Cast Pewter and Turned Wood Chess Set by Marek Woznica

The wheels of industry turn ever onwards in Studio 7, and this autumn Marek has been creating an ornate chess set from cast pewter and turned wood, in a classic style with a modern twist.

Using two naturally contrasting timbers, Black Walnut and Ash, Marek has devised revolutionary methods for turning even the squares on the board, and the components of the box which contains the pieces. The chessmen are also turned from the same two woods, and feature detailed pewter sections and pewter inlay.

Marek plans to exhibit the completed set for the first time at our Christmas Open Studios Weekend.

Amy Goodman - Sculptor and Portrait Artist

Amy on Romsey War Horse (just after the mould has been removed!)

Amy's Romsey Warhorse and Trooper has just been cast in bronze resin and is now having the final details added before being polished and patinated. This poignant memorial will be unveiled next April in the Romsey War Memorial Park.

Amy has recently started her residency at Winchester University, and will be producing further sculpture and paintings across the King Alfred and West Dean Campus. She will be working alongside students and staff and the wider community, and is excited about the work that will result from this two-year post. This being a part-time rôle, Amy is also undertaking private commissions, with the possibility of another War Memorial project on the horizon.

Soraya French - Artist

As in previous years, we welcomed over eighty artists from around the UK and as far as South Africa, the USA and Cayman Islands to experiment in all aspects of painting in mixed media. The painting trips to Morocco, Scotland and Sweden were very successful and have brought fresh sources of inspiration for future paintings.

Tim has posted the Studio Workshop dates for next year on our website recently, and places are rapidly filling up. There are still places available on a trip to Provence organised by the West Norfolk Art Centre from 1st to 7th July 2015.

Soraya's latest book, 'Expressive Painting in Mixed Media' is now available from many bookshops and online, and signed copies can be obtained from Soraya herself.

Soraya is currently exhibiting in The Royal College of Art in London and continues to exhibit her work with several galleries and art fairs as well as writing regular articles for The Artist magazine. She is currently experimenting with High Flow Acrylic Inks in Markers, spray paints and QoR watercolours with a new binder of Aquazole, so watch this space. ## Mark Taylor and David Hill - Glassmakers

Another interesting year so far has seen us making glass for 'Game Of Thrones', as well as spending a few weeks in Germany and Belgium working at wood-fired furnaces.

We will be working on 18th century table glass until the end of this year, and switching to Roman glass and 18th century bottles for the first part of 2015. Following our 2015 trips to Germany and Belgium, we will once again be working on 18th century glass in the latter part of the year.
